United States District Attorney Whittemore stated yesterday that he would continue W. L. Macdonald's appeal until the disposal of several cases, in which efforts of appeal are being made and with which Mr. Macdonald is familiar. A serious accident was narrowly averted on Second South near Sixth East last evening. Two ladies in a buggy were driving slowly when they were overtaken by another buggy containing two men, who drove recklessly into them, knocking the wheels and nearly upsetting them. Owing to the fact that the horse and the ladies were driving in a family unit and of the slow motion, they escaped anything worse than a bad scare. The men, who were not wearing hats, were thrown out of the buggy and the men were spilled out by it, being well punished and scratched up. Perhaps, hereafter, they will postpone the drink until after the ride.

GENERAL TAYLOR VICTORIOUS

CHARGE OF THREATENING TO COMMIT BATTERY DISMISSED.

Testimony Went to Show That Mr. Taylor, at the Time Stated, Was More Desirous of Averting Than Precipitating Trouble—Actual Battery Not Charged In the Complaint.

General John Lu Taylor has added another victory to his long list of conquests and placed more laurels on his already amply wreathed brow. He, on his own recognition, appeared yesterday afternoon for trial in Justice Nielsen's court on the charge of threatening to commit assault and battery upon his wife.

Mrs. Taylor claimed that on June 16, the general had very severely beaten her on the face and head with his clenched fists and that he also had kicked her with his feet and the lady's appearance went far to substantiate the veracity of her allegations. By some means or another the complaint against the general, however, did not charge battery, but alleged that on June 14, four days after the time Mrs. Taylor says she received the rough treatment, the general threatened to commit battery upon her.

Jesse Roote, Mrs. Taylor's attorney, was the only witness examined, and the substance of his testimony was that on the date named, Mr. Taylor had said that he intended going to the residence to get some articles of personal property which belonged to him, and that if Mrs. Taylor resisted him there would be trouble, as he was determined to have his belongings. He also suggested that it would be well for Mrs. Taylor to absent herself from the house at the time he intended going to get his property, so as to avoid friction.

On this showing Assistant County Attorney J. S. Rawlins presented the state, did not feel justified in asking that the general be put under bond to keep the peace, as from the testimony seemed that the accused was at that time more desirous of averting than precipitating trouble, hence when Attorney Fred McGurkin moved that the case be dismissed, Justice Nielsen granted the motion and the general and his friends went away triumphant.
